

Inspire 2025: Advancing Respiratory Therapy Together

46th Annual Conference of the Nebraska Society for Respiratory Care
Friday, May 2, 2025 from 8 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

NSRC Conference Preview with the VP

Q&A with Chris Hamilton

What was the inspiration behind this year's theme, "Inspire 2025: Advancing Respiratory Therapy Together?"

The idea for this year's theme came from my belief that our work is better when we work together. We receive inspiration from each other and learn that leadership is a shared responsibility.

How did you first get involved with the NSRC?

I first worked with the NSRC back in the 80's as membership chair. We were working together to achieve licensure for our profession. And together we overcame obstacles to be successful! Later I served as a delegate to the AARC House, which was an amazing experience to work together with leaders from all over the U.S.

What aspects of the conference do you enjoy the most?

I think the part I like the most about each year's conference is seeing students enjoy the experience for the first time. They network with other therapists, see all the different equipment that the vendors bring, and learn from the excellent speakers.
